

Plant Assessment and Gap Analysis

A scan of the facility and a review of the metrics is carried to give the organization valuable insights on the current status and make suggestions for the path forward. This is essentially a pre-requisite for an improvement initiative or a plant transformation activity.

The scan will assess strategy execution; goal setting process; HR development process; financial, commercial and operational metrics. It includes shop floor audit to assess shop floor practices and total employee involvement activity.

The gaps identified will help lay the path to excellence and profitability

The number of days and the selection of consultants will depend on the scale, the nature of business, the pre-defined and agreed scope of the audit and the organizational aspirations and goals